The d-mand for railroad iron, which is expected soon, is also looked forward to by the coke men as a benefit to their trade Just now the markets of the southern coke operators are the prey of the Con-nellaville producera. Last summer a party of Pennsylvania railroad engineers surveyed the west side of the Monongahela river between Brownsville, Pa., and Morgan-town, W. Va. This was taken as an indication that the company intended extending the Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston railroad between the points named, but whether this theory was right is not known, as the panie came and operations in that quarter were temporarily suspended. Last week, however, the officials of the Pittsburg. Virginia and Charleston ordered the Thompson Distilling company, whose works are located a few miles above Brownsville, to vacate its mill. It stands directly on the line surveyed last summer, and the order to vacate is now taken as an indication that work on the extention is to be begun early this spring. The new line will it is said, open up valuable coal, ore and timber lands, and there are a number of town on both sides of the river between the two points waich would also contribute considerable new business.

Bradatreet's analysis of the effect of the panic of 1893 on the banks of the country points out that one out of three of all those compelled to suspend resumed prior to Jan 1 last; that two out of three national banks suspending had resumed, but only one out of three suspended state banks, and less than one out of every five private banking institutions, resumed business by Jan.
